is personal data?

Personal data is information that can be used to help identify an individual, directly or indirectly, such as a name, an identification number, location data, an online identifier or one or more factors specific to the physical, physiological, genetic, mental, economic, cultural or social identity of that person.

What information do we collect and why?

We collect a variety of personal and non-personal information during your pre-employment/employment with us but generally this might include your name, address, telephone number, email address, IP address, qualifications and skills, next of kin or emergency contact information. For identification and payment purposes we collect your bank details, passport or driving licence details, details of your vehicle and vehicle insurance when claiming expenses and other personal information in connection with your DBS/ Right to work background checks. Dependant on your role we may also require health information to be disclosed.

We will also note down, if we are aware, when you have a personal connection to the hospice because you or a loved one of yours have used our services. If we are not aware of your connection this is only because the information has not been shared with us by you.

We use Closed Circuit Television (CCTV) in and around our buildings for security purposes, therefore you may appear in still images and video footage. Our CCTV system and its operation adheres to the CCTV Code of Practice.

How do we collect personal information from you?

- Through application forms, letters or CVs when you apply for a role as an employee.

- Through your interaction with us as an employee e.g. face to face communication, via email, text message, verbally over the telephone or via video conferencing software such as Zoom and Microsoft Teams.
- When you update your information via our self-service HR database and Payroll service.
- When you update your information on online e-learning systems such as e-Learning for Health.
- From information in the public domain e.g. sources like postcode searches, Companies House or social media sites such as LinkedIn, Twitter and Facebook.

Why do we collect your personal information?

If you are an employee in any capacity, we will collect your information as part of our recruitment process and in fulfilling our responsibilities as your employer. This may include the processing of any salary payments, arranging your pension requests, submitting tax declarations and when necessary, contacting healthcare professionals regarding your wellbeing.

If you donate money, give us gifts, or volunteer at an event, then please read the Supporters and Volunteers Privacy Notice for information on how we process your personal information.

○ TikTok

○ YouTube

- We will tell you how we collected any personal information about you and you have the right to see what personal information we have and the right to tell us not to keep it. You can do this using the contact details above.

What about sensitive information?

Data protection law recognises 'sensitive personal data' or 'special categories of data' covering health information, race and ethnicity, religious or philosophical beliefs and political opinions, among other things.

We do not collect these types of information unless there is a clear reason to do so - for example where we have a duty to carry out appropriate checks for employees for safeguarding purposes and to ensure their safety whilst performing their duties.

If we collect these types of information we will make it clear to you what our contractual obligation is and any other legal grounds for processing this information.

What are the legal bases for processing your data?

Under the Data Protection act 2018/General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), the lawful bases we rely on for processing this information are:

We have a contractual obligation when processing data relating to any employee via their Contract of Employment.

We have a legal obligation as the basis for processing any legally required information such as tax information to HMRC.

How do we store your information, and do we keep it forever?

We will retain your personal information for the duration of your employment. We hold your personal information for 7 years, your tax declaration information for 6 years, and for 6 months in the event of an unsuccessful application.

What are your data protection rights?

Under UK data protection law, you have certain rights including:

Your right of access - You have the right to ask us for copies of your personal information.

Your right to rectification - You have the right to ask us to rectify information you think is inaccurate. You also have the right to ask us to complete information you think is incomplete. If you just want to change the personal information you have provided to us at any time then please visit our website www.havenshospices.org.uk, call us on 01702 220310, or email us on changeme@havenshospices.org.uk.

Your right to erasure - You have the right to ask us to erase your personal information in certain circumstances unless we are required to retain your information to fulfil our statutory and legal obligations.

Your right to restriction of processing - You have the right to ask us to restrict the processing of your information in certain circumstances unless we are required to retain your information to fulfil our statutory and legal obligations.

Your right to object to processing - You have the right to object to the processing of your personal data in certain circumstances unless we are required to retain your information to fulfil our statutory and legal obligations.

Your right to data portability - You have the right to ask that we transfer the information you gave us to another organisation, or to you, in certain circumstances.

You are not required to pay any charge for exercising your rights. If you make a request (known as a Data Subject Access Request or DSAR), we have one month to respond to you.

Please contact us at dataprotection@havenshospices.org.uk if you wish to make a DSAR.
